Blessings Of Millions For Float Pair

Women Point To Couple Who Honeymoon On Wistaria Town Entry

Civic minded bridge fans had a wonderful time and contributed $30 towards the Wistaria Town's entry in the New Year's Tournament of Roses at a card party hosted by Mrs. W. J. Lawless at Wistaria Vine Gardens Friday evening.

"That $30 will help a lot, but what interested me even more was the whisperings I heard among the women about the possibility that we will yet find a Sierra Madre couple who are contemplating marriage and will fix the ceremony for New Year's morning—then begin their honeymoon on the Wistaria Town float," said Waverly Pratt, chairman of the float committee.

"What a wow that float would be—what a hand that pair would get through that lane of more than a million people who will witness the pageant. All the world loves a lover and think what the good wishes of a million people would mean to start a pair off in life. More than that—think of the untold millions who would hear the float described over the air—all over the earth—and the gorgeous float on which they begin their honeymoon. Millions would wish them well—, and a wedding with all those good wishes would just naturally have to be one of those affairs they lived happily ever after' affairs."

Mayor Schiltz says construction of the float will get under way this week. One of the central figures on the float is to be a horse. A noted sculptor, the mayor says, is going to create the animal. The sculptor, associated with Borglum in his carvings of America's great men on the mountainsides in the Dakotas and Carolinas and now in Sierra Madre, will do the job. Later, he says, the mayor will reveal the identity of this notable.

Postmaster Ray O. Caukin won the door prize, a large white pottery vase of modernistic design, presented by the float committee, at the card party.

Card prizes, one for each of the 15 tables, were presented by Mrs. Lawless to Mrs. Woodson Jones, Mrs. Estelle Church, Mrs. James Heasley, Dr. L. L. Krebs, Mrs. E. D. Burbank, Mrs. William Lauren Rhoades and Mrs. A. F. Guignot, all of this city; Mrs. Rea Felt of Santa Anita Oaks and Mrs. A. M. Barstow of San Clemente.

Elks To Distribute Food Baskets For Thanksgiving

Elks of this city will follow a custom of many years standing when they distribute Thanksgiving dinner baskets to a number of families here.

Councilman John Froelick is in charge of the Thanksgiving activity of the local members of the Monrovia lodge, and Building Inspector William Lees will distribute the baskets.

Monday afternoon the lodge, to which Sierra Madre Elks belong, sponsored a special show for children at the Lyric theatre in Monrovia. There food articles were the admission charge and the proceeds were turned into the Thanksgiving baskets.

City To Have Latest In Gas Stations

Steinberger To Install Most Modern Equipment In Fine New Plant

To bring to Sierra Madre the "last word" in modern service stations, J. Milton Steinberger, owner and operator of the local Standard station, working in conjunction with Standard Stations Inc., this week secured a building permit and started demolishing the present structure at Auburn avenue and Sierra Madre boulevard.

Mr. Steinberger plans to have erected a building conforming in every detail to the newest styled Standard stations. Specifications call for automatic computing meter pumps, fully enclosed lubrication department, paved yard, modern rest rooms and stream lined designing throughout.

Improvements are expected to be completed by Christmas, and during construction, business will be conducted as usual, Steinberger stated.

A long time resident of Sierra Madre, and for many years Ford car and Fordson tractor dealer for this territory, Steinberger in 1911 established the first garage and service station in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Wolf of Santa Ana will entertain the W. J. Adwell family.

Mrs. Frances Brain and daughter Mary Frances will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Brain and William Flemming of Alhambra.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Burbank will spend the day with Mr. Burbank's sister Mrs. Mabel R. Dow of Laguna Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Davey and daughter Mary Jane will be entertained at the home of Miss Myrtle Ball in Los Angeles.

Picturesque Candle Lighting Ceremony At Grand Council of Camp Fire Girls Delights Big Audience

Sierra Madreans who attended the first Grand Council Fire of the local units of Camp Fire Girls at the school cafeteria last Friday were delighted with the picturesque ceremony.

The Council opened with the entrance of the girls singing and carrying an American flag and the flag of the Camp Fire Girls. Miss Elizabeth Steinberger gave the welcoming address. Mrs. Edward A. Davey, president of the PTA, delivered a Thanksgiving message and Miss E. W. Hancock, executive secretary of the Pasadena district gave a short talk with particular mention of Jeanette Thayer for whom a special bravery honor is being sought last summer in saving the life of her sister.

Perhaps the most beautiful part of the ritual was the lighting of the twelve council candles which followed the entrance of the "Blue Birds." The candles were centered in a huge decoration of bright autumn leaves and gourds. Each represented a month and was lighted by a member of the group. Fire lighters were Sylvia Shippey, Joan Hinkley, Mary Irish, Virginia Liscomb, Adelaide Roach, Myrel May Weese, Lois Fontaine, Miss Miles attached her honors to small French bouquets made of button chrysanthemums.

Girls under the guardianship of Miss Ruth Miles who also received head honors for crafts were Nadine Nobel, Nancy Bumpus, Alice Burnham, Helen Askeew, Betty Jo Fix, Yoshiko Umekubo, Dorothy Smith, Donald Thayer, Jeanette Carlson and Lois Fontaine. Miss Miles attached her honors to small French bouquets made of button chrysanthemums.

Members of the reception committee were Miss Elizabeth Steinberger, Wanda Cole, Betty Clark, Barbara Collins, Ann Moore, Alice Burnham, Yoshiko Umekubo, Jeanette Carlson and Betty Jo Fix. Decorations were in charge of Mrs. Bruce Moore, Mrs. Hiram Embree and Mrs. Roy Carlson.

Lowell Ave. Paving Won't Be A Crazy Quilt Design

Sierra Madre has been saved the shame of a crazy-quilt, partly paved street. Lowell avenue will be paved in its entirety and the work is under way.

Several property holders held back the project for months while they decided whether or not they would stand the expense of setting curbs on their frontage. The cost was nominal and the paving was to be done by the city out of gas tax funds—conditioned on the setting of curbs. But a few held out.

When the council decided to proceed with the job and pave the street only where the curbs had been arranged for, the hesitant owners came through with an agreement to help build a real street.

A city crew this week put a sealed oil surface on Wilson avenue where the oil and rock pavement was disintegrating.

PJC Bulldogs Go To The Mat With Cal Tech This Evening

Closing one of the most successful seasons in this history, Bulldogs of Pasadena junior college will clash with the Cal Tech Engineers this (Wednesday) evening in the Rose Bowl for the Pasadena gridiron championship.

Services Of Thanksgiving At Churches

Holiday Will Be Fittingly Observed By All Sierra Madre Congregations

For those who will spend a portion of their Thanksgiving day in church, this city's various places of worship this week prepared to offer special services on the holiday.

Rev. Stewart R. Sheriff, pastor of Bethany church, will conduct a Thanksgiving service there at 10 a. m.

A simple one-hour service will be held by Rev. Arthur O. Pritchard at the Congregational church, starting at 10:30 a. m. Mr. Pritchard said the service was set for earlier than the usual hour to allow churchgoers time for their own observance of the day at home. Thanksgiving music was presented at the Congregational church on Sunday.

At the Church of the Ascension a song service of Thanksgiving will be held at 9 a. m. Rev. William E. Heagerty will give the address. Sung Holy Communion will be held, and the combined choirs directed by Mrs. Frances Kitzman will present special music. Soloists will be Clarence Noshier and Jack Buchanan.

Special services for the occasion will be held at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, at 11 a. m. Thursday.

New Rules In Mailings For Xmas

Regulations Insure Safe Carriage And Prompt Delivery Of Gifts

A bulletin on Christmas mailing has been received by the local post office, according to Postmaster Ray O. Caukin. Cooperation of patrons is sought in observance of conditions necessary for safe and speedy dispatch of Christmas mail.

Articles for third class or parcel post mailing should be packed in strong, durable containers, and wrapped securely. Do not seal them unless a printed label is used, reading: "Contents merchandise—Postmaster: This parcel may be opened for postal inspection if necessary." Sealed packages without this label will be subject to postage at the letter rate.

All matter should be addressed plainly and completely in ink, giving street address or box or rural route number whenever possible. The name and address of the sender must be given on the label or in the upper left corner of the address side of the package.

Parcels may not exceed 100 inches in length and girth combined, nor weigh more than 70 pounds. They may be marked "Do not open until Christmas." Written greetings, such as "Merry Christmas," "With best wishes," and names, numbers or symbols, for the purpose of description, may be enclosed with third class or parcel post mail. Anything else in the nature of a personal communication will subject the parcel to the letter rate. Communications prepaid at the first class rate may be enclosed in an addressed envelope and securely attached to the outside of the package, on the address side. Books may bear simple dedicatory inscriptions not of a personal nature. Christmas seals should not be placed on the address side of mail.

It is urged that parcels be insured, to provide indemnity in case of loss. Also, insured mail may be traced in its delivery, as it must be receipted for by the addressee or his agent. The insurance fees, in addition to the postage, are from 5 cents for a parcel valued not over $5, to 35 cents for a valuation of not over $200.

By a recent proclamation of the President, the rate on books was reduced to 1½ cents per pound, addressed anywhere within the domestic mailing limits. This change is designed to encourage the use and interchange of books.

It is suggested that in no case should cards and envelopes be smaller than 2-3/4 by 4 inches, as small sized cards and envelopes are difficult to handle.

Postal authorities point out the advantages of sending greeting cards in sealed envelopes at letter rate, instead of unsealed at third class rate. A greeting card in a sealed envelope will receive greater appreciation from the recipient. Also, third class mail can not be returned, in case it can not be delivered, without payment of additional postage.

Finally, patrons are invited to inquire at the postoffice on any point of information, and to request aid in solving their mailing problems. A circular of information on preparation, wrapping and packing of mail matter may be had by asking for it at the post office.

City Set For Era Of Home Building

Dams That Have Held Back City's Development Are Giving Way.

Sale this week of the last Sierra Madre Blvd. frontage of the old stone-walled Fowler estate means another fine new home on the city's main stem.

P. E. Kellogg, Los Angeles dealer in builders supplies, has acquired the east 150 feet of the one-time beautiful orange grove in which the Fowler home was hidden. The lot in the 400 block in West Sierra Madre Blvd. adjoins that recently bought by Edward T. Clark who is rushing a fine residence to completion. Immediately adjoining the Clark property to the west is the fine David Piau estate, first subdivision of the Fowler holdings.

The Kelloggs, now residing at 520 Ramona avenue, plan construction of a modern stucco dwelling. The lot extends 190 feet toward West Montecito avenue, where Miss Emma Jameson built a beautiful home, second to the Fowler property. The Kelloggs are planning their home now and expect to begin building about the first of the year.

Building Inspector William Lees said yesterday there had been more inquiries concerning permits and local building regulations during the last ten days than in any previous six month period since he took over his position. Many prospective builders, he said, had held up their applications pending the result of the November 8 election in which home investments and building operations were seriously threatened by the single tax, Garrison bond and ham and eggs propositions—all defeated at the polls.

"Inquiries at our office indicate the incoming of many highly desirable families," said Lees, "and the building within the next few months of many fine homes. Many have been holding back not only to await outcome of the election, but for final action on the Pacific Coast building code and adoption or rejection of the new city zoning ordinance."

"Evident determination of the planning commission to preserve Sierra Madre as a strictly high class home community attracted more attention from non-resident home seekers than we apparently realized and while the ordinance was in its formative stage our office received an ever-increasing number of visitors and mailed inquiries. Now that it seems the planning commission's land use plan will be adopted by the city council during the next 30 days substantially as recommended, we may look forward to a lot of building here."

Meantime the city council last night finally passed the Pacific Coast building code, fixing fees and all standard building regulations. It will be published in the next issue of The News.

Red Cross To Exceed Its Quota Here

Goal Of Membership Drive In Sight As End Of Campaign Nears

Probability that Red Cross Roll Call, annual drive for funds which opened Nov. 11, would attain its 500-member quota by Thanksgiving was seen early this week as the canvass was nearing the end, with 480 members enrolled and $738 collected. Capt. E. G. Everett, campaign chairman, pointed out that expected subscriptions would bring the total well over the 500 mark. He stated that while no further solicitation will be made after Thanksgiving, contributions will be acceptable at any time at Red Cross headquarters.

Besides the Fire department and Kiwanis club, first to go over the top in the drive with 100 percent enrollments, the tally subscribed organizations this week included Dickens Fellowship, Mrs. N. W. Tarr, enrollment chairman; and Modern Priscillas, Mrs. H. B. Hersey, drive chairman.

Applications For Tax Refunds May Be Filed Here

Applications for refunds on 1935-36 taxes will be accepted by a representative of the county tax collector's office from now until December 5, City Clerk Waverly Pratt stated yesterday.

A tax department officer is stationed at the city hall this week and will be on duty there until the first installment of 1938-39 taxes become delinquent, December 5, Pratt said, for the convenience of those who seek refunds. The tax officer will assist in preparation of refund applications.

Students At Wilson
Pack Thanksgiving
Baskets For Needy

Annual custom of donating Thanksgiving baskets to needy families of the district was followed by Wilson junior high school student body and faculty again this year.

A student committee packed the baskets, and the Parent-Teacher association planned to distribute them Wednesday.

Among those on the basket packing committee were John Coit, 9-2, and Dorothy Alley, 9-1 both of Sierra Madre.

A Christmas gift shop atmosphere pervaded the main hall of the junior high, when articles produced by artcraft pupils of Mrs. Elva McMichael were displayed to the remainder of the student body.

Many of the art pupils made these articles for Christmas giving, and the assortment included boxes of every shape, size and design; notebooks, kodak albums, portfolios, leather and woven purses and wallets, copper plaques, wooden link belts and desk sets.

Harry Lovejoy has had his bicycle stolen while he was in a Saturday matinee at the Uptown theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Reuss of San Jose were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray O. Caukin last week.

"Yes, things do stay cleaner here--
practically everybody uses
Natural Gas"

You notice the cleanness of Southern California's atmosphere most when you compare it with busy communities where natural gas is not available. That is why visitors here so often comment on the delightful freedom from soot.

They see what a difference it makes to have natural gas, a fuel cheap enough for everybody to use and yet so clean that it leaves no residue whatever.

But even more important is the fact that gas brings extra conveniences. It is the fast, effortless way to cook and it provides automatic refrigeration that is permanently silent.

For helpful information about any gas appliance, see a dealer or your gas company. Ask about the easy terms.

The art of a thing is, first, its aims, and next, its manner of accomplishment.—Bovee.

LOOK—IN THE MIRROR

Take a look at your neighbors and the people next door!

How many are boomer? How many are boomer? There's not much difference between those two words—just an "m"! On a printer's rule, an "em" doesn't amount to much. But when it comes to building a better community, that "m" can amount to a lot!

Take the boomer! Is a community project proposed? Is civic betterment at stake? For both, the boomer has the same answer—a loud, lusty "boomer!"

Take the boomer! When there's a job of civic building to do—they step in and do it! When a community project is proposed—they jump in and lend a hand!

All of us have some investment in this community. Some of us have invested time. Some money and some labor. But for all of us the future of this community is of prime importance—as citizens, and as investors!

That investment can be protected and that citizenship exercised, but it takes a boomer to do it, a man or woman convinced of the future of this community, and willing to dig in to make that future brighter.

Take a look at your neighbors and the people next door. But first take a look at yourself. Boomer or boomer—which is it?

The future of this community may depend on your answer!

AS OTHERS SEE US

Sierra Madre is a "better class" residential city in the opinion of many rural editors—and the general public. Editor C. O. Shoop of the La Puente Valley Journal expressed the idea of many valley newspapers in an editorial interpreting the vote for and against "ham and eggs" at the recent election. In last week's Journal he said:

"Such communities as Claremont, San Marino, Sierra Madre, and South Pasadena would be expected to vote negatively, and that is just what they did. Claremont is a college town and has some industries. San Marino and Sierra Madre are primarily residential cities, where reside the 'better' class of workers, if 'better' may be applied to the higher paid brackets of workers. South Pasadena is both an industrial and residential area."

THEY "PUT ONE OVER"

M. E. Drum—and a good many thousand other voters whose opinions Mr. Drum expresses, believes some of Los Angeles county's very well paid county officials, "put one over" on the public at the recent election. In his column in the Lamanda Park Herald, Drum says:

"It is evident that thousands of Los Angeles county voters were fooled into voting directly opposite what they intended on county proposition No. 2. The manner in which the proposition was worded is what fooled the voters. It read 'Shall the salaries of the sheriff, district attorney and assessor be fixed at $10,000 per year?' Many voters got the idea that this was to be a raise, hence they voted 'No.' Had it read, 'Shall the salaries of the sheriff, district attorney and assessor be reduced from $12,000 per year to $10,000 per year the voters would have voted 'Yes.' Could it be possible that the thing was given the peculiar wording for a purpose? We wonder."

GOVERNMENT WANTS AUTOPILOT PILOTS

Any Sierra Madreams under 48 years, who know how to pilot an autogiro, possess certificate for same and have had 100 solo flying hours in such, and who want a job at $3,200 yearly, with Uncle Sam, should see Arthur Embree at the postoffice, he announced this week on behalf of the federal civil service commission.

Applications for examination for the position, along with that for senior biological aid to assist in control of injurious animals, at $2,000 per year, will be received by the commission until Dec. 12.

Case and Comment

By Charles B. Showalter

ALMOST three hundred years ago a small group of lonely colonists on a bleak and inhospitable New England shore, gave a great dinner to which all the community along with their friendly Indian neighbors were invited. It was the first celebration of the Harvest Festival held on this continent and set the precedent and started the impulse that culminated in our present custom of celebrating Thanksgiving Day.

Measured by present day standards of material welfare these early settlers didn't have so much to be thankful for. Crops were not bountiful but enough. Wild game in plenty. And the death rate among them decreasing. And they also enjoyed certain spiritual values that were worth far more to them than any material possessions—the right to direct their own lives as they saw fit and to worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience.

They recognized that such as they had came as a direct dispensation of Divine Providence, and set aside a day for thankfulness and gratitude to God for His protection and care.

And so we carry on the tradition. Even in much the same way. We must have turkey for dinner, as they did, though ours is the domesticated lineal descendant of the wild ones that furnished their feast.

Perhaps in all our calendar of holidays none have a stronger claim to our serious consideration than the annual Thanksgiving Day. We are essentially a Christian nation. Christians must believe in God. And believing in Him, we must recognize that whatever we have is a gift from His hand. Even common courtesy demands that we should say "Thank you," as we would to a friend or neighbor who gave us a great gift. And the amassed gratitude of a great people should be pleasing to Him. And so this is a day to "Eat, drink and be merry, —to be sure—but take Him to the banquet table with us."

If you may recall there is a case on record where a man lost all because he failed to take God into consideration. There are certain peoples and nations in the world today that are doing that very thing. They are leaving God out. They say He doesn't exist. Some say "Stake is God. Some claim their leader is God. Some leaders claim and accept worshipful adulation. We recall what happened to Nebuchadnezzar, also to his successor, Belshazzar. And history is replete with more modern examples.

It would be difficult to find a lower moral condition of the human soul than ingratitude; therefore we should first of all thank God that we have a President who can and does call on all the nations to acknowledge God and thank Him for His bounty. In this way we are reminded that America is a God-fearing nation; that we owe our greatness and place in the world to this fact.

As we witness the rising tides of oppression in the world, the dominance of the philosophy of force, with intolerance and hate taking from people their freedom, regimenting their minds through propaganda, we are driven back to God, the author of all liberty.

Surely every American can and should be grateful to God for the measure of freedom still vouchsafed to us. And if we honestly enlist the aid of Divine Providence, America can be kept free and sane and humane against all the sinister influences in the world. Therefore we should never be unmindful of the source of all our liberties, as well as our material welfare.

Every day should be a day of Thanksgiving, and we should pray, with Lincoln, that "this Nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom," enabling us to hold aloft the torch of Christian liberty to all the world.

Voting strength of Los Angeles county has increased more than 63 per cent in the last 10 years, it was disclosed this week by Registrar of Voters W. M. Kerr. Ten years ago the county had a registration of 925,292 for the general election of November 6, 1928. There were 600,636 Republicans and 217,050 Democrats. There were only two other political parties, Socialists and Prohibitionists, and the decline-to-state classification. Registration in the county now stands at 1,516,068 with 501,577 Republicans and 920,034 Democrats. The Republican party has lost less than 100,000 of its members, showing that the rest of the 400 per cent increase in the Democratic ranks has been made up from new residents and from other classifications. Fewer persons decline to state their party preference today than they did 10 years ago. Today there are only 9,228 who decline to state, 10 years ago there were 90,298.

Few Californians are aware that 65 per cent of the State's great fruit crop is dried, or that 90 per cent of all such fruit produced in the United States is grown in California and returns an average of 50,000,000 new dollars yearly to California farmers. Top leaders in this horn of plenty are prunes and raisins which usually account for half of these new dollars.

Women, according to Gertrude Atherton, California's distinguished 82-year-old novelist, are within 50 years of taking over the nation—look, stock and barrel. If the male millennium, predicted by Miss Atherton is at hand, the WPA is prepared to go its bit to help the papas out. Back in Cleveland the WPA has organized what has already been tagged—help-a-papa service. Under the program, a number of WPA workers have been taught to darn socks, scrub floors, bathe babies, and cook vitamins. Now, whenever a Cleveland mother hies herself off to the country for a bit of vacation, all the harassed father has to do is phone the WPA and ask for a helping of help-a-papa service. The WPA responds and all is well. There's one thing, however, the home assistants just can't do—help-a-papa meet his bills.

Some of the candidates who spent all their coin on the radio in the recent campaign are still wondering what hit them! With few exceptions, the campaigns which won—at the November 8th election—were the campaigns which told it to the people in newspapers. Eyes still decide more elections than ears! Most people don't take the trouble to remember the names of the sponsors of their favorite musical programs and tune the barkers out when highlights of the program are over.

Women should not dismiss subjects they abhor from their minds just because they are objectionable, but study them so as to learn how to combat them, in the opinion of Mrs. Linda Littlejohn, president of Women's Equal Rights International. "As we loathe the totalitarian countries," she said in Los Angeles, "we should study them closely so that we may learn from their mistakes and strengthen democracy."

California's Attorney General U. S. Webb hasn't much respect for the promoters of dog racing. In an off the record discussion of the subject, he said: "There is only one participant in the nefarious business of dog racing that is clean—that is the dog."

No less a person than Mrs. Gertrude Binney Kay, a prominent educator of Boston, casting caution to the winds, has announced that dunking is entirely correct, at informal parties, at least. The cruller, she adds, should be held between the thumb and the third finger.

The first efficiency is bodily efficiency.

Poor Richard said:

It would be a hard government that should tax its people one-tenth of their time, to be employed in its service, but idleness taxes many of us much more; sloth by bringing on diseases absolutely shortens life. Sloth, like rust, consumes faster than labor wears, while the used key is always bright.

Remarkable Story of Thanksgiving

AN industrious lawyer, America's leading authority on the origin and celebration of Thanksgiving, has traced it back 25 centuries. It is a remarkable story, according to Girard, one of the nation's first and most noted columnists. In his "Talk of the Day," Girard says:

Thanksgiving has been more extensively nationalized in America than anywhere else. Yet the idea was borrowed from Europe by those hardy Pilgrim Fathers, who thought of it as a holy and not a holiday.

Many centuries ago peasant folk in Northern Europe had their harvest home festivals. They came close to worshipping the Harvest Moon, which, as you know, is the September moon.

Rising several nights when full at about the same time, those simple-minded harvesters believed it had been so arranged especially by Providence to enable farmers to garner their crops by the light of the moon. Now AAA keeps the books, presumes to do most of the agricultural thinking and gives harvesters the balance after subtracting large gobs of credit.

Thanksgiving has settled comfortably down into a Presidential proclamation, football and roast turkey. Nevertheless, this holiday has run a most extraordinary official gauntlet. And unless you know, as I do, H. S. J. Sichel, Philadelphia lawyer, you will be amazed at our past Thanksgivings or lack of them.

Mr. Sichel has worked a couple of years preparing a book on the ins, out and peculiarities of Congress and Presidents with regard to a Thanksgiving observance.

I believe that Mr. Sichel has made the only complete assemblage of all Thanksgiving proclamations issued in the United States. Not even the Department of State at Washington has a full set.

I don't know why he felt that way about it, but President Jefferson never would issue a Thanksgiving Proclamation. His political enemies gave that as one more reason to think he was an atheist. But Jefferson disappeared also of celebrating Washington's birthday while the General was still alive.

Nor did Washington issue the first proclamation for a national Thanksgiving. He issued one in 1789 which was made by direction of the Congress. In Massachusetts colony such a day of prayer had been observed from the pioneer days in 1620.

It was the Continental Congress that proclaimed the first Thanksgiving for all the 13 colonies. That was done in 1777 when Congress, having fled from Philadelphia, was sitting at York, Pa.

So with all truth you can say that our national Thanksgiving Day was born there beyond the Susquehanna River in York county. Was it some New England Congressman or the Rev. Dr. John Witherspoon, then president of Princeton College, who was also a Jersey Congressman, who moved the resolution for such a proclamation?

Perhaps it was because he was so glad to get the War of 1812 finished and off his conscience that President Madison issued two Thanksgiving Day proclamations in 1815—one Jan. 12 and the other April 13. The latter at least was ordered by Congress.

And then for the next 47 years there was no Thanksgiving Proclamation issued by any President. All in public addresses appeared to rely heavily upon Providence, yet went no farther.

Then on April 13, 1862, Lincoln at his own instance, sent forth such a proclamation. In the preceding year Congress had by joint resolution requested President Lincoln to issue a proclamation of "humiliation and prayer" to be observed on Sept. 30, 1861.

Results of the battle of Bull Run seem to have called loudly for large quantities of humiliation on the part of the North.

Mr. Sichel tells me that when assembled together these Presidential proclamations form a "magnificent piece of English literature." Some of them are classical gems. In a way they comprise a unique volume of political literature as well.

Since Lincoln's day they have come regularly and in many instances refer to some outstanding event of the past year.

But this studious lawyer adds that the idea for public thanks can be traced directly back to Jewish origin more than 25 centuries ago.

AMERICANS HAVE REAL REASON FOR THANKSGIVING SAYS VISITOR FROM HOLLAND

Apropos of the Thanksgiving season Mrs. W. W. Nijhoff, visitor from The Hague opened a chat which we had with her recently by stressing many of the simple advantages of American life which are a part of our daily regime and for which we should everlastingly give thanks. "Americans," said Mrs. Nijhoff "should appreciate so very many things—its white bread, fresh fruits and milk, among other things, for nowhere in Europe are they available to all classes as here in America. There, many are deprived of fruits and it is quite impossible to buy whole milk. Either one buys skimmed milk or cream. Owning a car is quite out of the question when, as in Holland and other countries, taxes for owning and operating an automobile amount to a hundred and fifty dollars a year, while the least expensive gasoline averages more than twenty cents a gallon, plus a high tax. Bicycles are therefore the medium of transportation, over four million being in use throughout the country which has a population of eight millions.

Mrs. Nijhoff, who is a native of Texas and is now visiting her sister, Mrs. J. L. Melton of 125 E. Laurel avenue, has been a resident of The Hague for the past seven years where her husband is a publisher of books of science and art. "It is an unheard of thing for a book published in Holland to achieve a sale exceeding fifty thousand copies," said Mrs. Nijhoff, "and a sale of twenty five thousand copies is considered favorable. The reading public is well versed in the English classics and read widely in all languages. They believe that of American authors Sinclair Lewis portrays the truest picture of American life, but the literati are deeply interested in the writings of John Steinbeck and William Saroyan."

Mrs. Nijhoff has found the people of Holland much less excitable than Americans. During the recent threats of war on the continent, no war preparations were made as in England, the people believing that peace would endure for at least another two years. While there is a National Socialist party in Holland, it has decreased in membership in the last year, and the Communist center is Amsterdam. Neither party has attained any great degree of prominence, due to the liberal policies of their Queen. While unemployment is less proportionately than here, there is a dole system which is slightly higher than the average relief budget for citizens of the United States.

This year Mrs. Nijhoff will miss the Christmas celebration at the Hague which is held on St. Nicholas Eve, December fifth, with many delightful customs. She will return to the Netherlands with her husband early in January with many regrets at leaving Sierra Madre and its unsurpassed climate which she said has made her "pro Californian."

Scouts To Explore Famed Calico Hills— Hunting A Truck

Boy Scouts of Sierra Madre Troop No. 1 are calling not "all cars," just a truck.

Search for the required vehicle started when the troop, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Craig McLaughlin, decided to join the sixth annual Scouts' caravan to the desert next month.

Establishing their camp near the Devil's Honeycomb in the scenic Calico mountains north and east of Barstow, troops of the Pasadena-San Gabriel valley council will spend December 27, 28 and 29 there. The Scouts will explore some of the most rugged and beautiful canyons of the West, visit the famous Calico mines and ghost town, hike through the mountains, gather about their campfires in the evening to sing songs, hear stories of the desert and of the early day of the West. It will be a wonderful trip, interesting and educational.

Assuring parents that their sons will be well chaperoned by Scoutmasters, McLaughlin pointed out that the 300-mile trip will cost each boy only two dollars for transportation, each carrying his own food and bedding.

"But where do you suppose we can get a truck to take the boys up there?" McLaughlin asked.

Last weekend 18 boys of Troop No. 1 jaunted to Camp Huntington, council-maintained camp on the slopes of Mt. Lowe. The local unit distinguished itself by having the largest attendance present from any of the 30 troops represented.

McLaughlin and Junior Assistant Scoutmasters Larry Garland and Claude Allen accompanied the boys on the weekend outing. Tuesday night the troop met informally in the Lima street gulley, worked on Scout tests and enjoyed a welter roast.

Tribute Paid Memory Of John Muir

Notables Present As Woodland Nook Is Dedicated To Great Naturalist

In a setting that would have delighted the heart of John Muir, famed California naturalist, a band of his admirers gathered Sunday afternoon at the Wistaria Vine and there on the slope below the gardens dedicated to his memory a grove of trees.

Honoring the 100th anniversary of his birth, the grove was christened John Muir Woodland Nook. In it stands the giant redwood tree presented by Theodore Payne, of Glendale, one of the best known authorities on California seeds and plants, whose regretted absence from the dedications was caused by illness.

This redwood has the company of a number of the other plant friends so beloved by John Muir, for the nook includes fremontia, laurel, incense cedar and sycamore trees and has a ground covering of oxalis.

Ceremonies Sunday were opened by Mrs. Willoughby Rhodes of Los Angeles, active member of the Sierra Woman's Club and of Friday Morning Club in Los Angeles.

"In this world of chaos today," said Mrs. Rhodes, "it is refreshing to look back upon days more abounding in peace and quiet, when the world was more cognizant of Nature's beauties."

Miss Charlotte Hoak, South Pasadena authority on California shrubs and other plants about which she has written much, and well known also for her activities in Audubon society, sketched the story of Muir's life.

Miss Hoak traced the career of the Scotland-born boy who early developed a love of Nature, never failed to wonder at her glories and "came into his own" after he found his way to San Francisco in 1868, thence to his "discovery" of the San Joaquin valley on foot and eventually to Yosemite valley, where he made his headquarters for ten years. Miss Hoak described how Muir started writing, became famous and was sought out as one of the world's most prominent persons, and how he started a crusade for conservation of the forests, cause whose sole champion he remained for 13 years before others joined in the battle.

During the afternoon a white garden, resplendent with chrysanthemums, marguerites and other flowers, was dedicated to Miss Hoak. Percy Poore Sheehan, scenarist and columnist, made the address, pointing out the value of her work toward preservation and dissemination of nature lore.

Ceremonies concluded, the audience disbanded, about 50 of those present strolling up to the Vine Gardens dining room to enjoy the customary informal Sunday night supper. Among those present were Congressman-elect Carl Hinshaw, Assemblyman T. Fenton Knight and his wife.

FIRE FLAMES

By One of the Boys

ART Johnson was slowly patrolling along Sierra Madre Boulevard last Wednesday evening. (It was after nine o'clock.) With him was none other than Bustling Bob Newbery. "We haven't had a night fire for a heck of a while," said Art to Bob. "It's been a long time," answered Bob. "I wouldn't mind hearing the old siren sound right now. We need a little excitement."

Soon they passed the Masonic Temple. Bob had just about fallen asleep. Art made a sudden startled move and looked toward the rear yard of the Temple. "That looks like fire," said Art. "By-Golly," spoke Bob, "it smells like fire." When they arrived near the fence that separates the lumber yard from the Temple's back yard both the brave firemen discovered that it was fire. While Bob controlled the fire with the extinguisher from the police car, Art hurried to the station for the Pierce Arrow truck on which an ever ready tank of water is carried. This again proved its worth by extinguishing a very threatening fire. Had this blaze been allowed to spread to the lumber sheds, there is no telling what might have happened. Both boys deserve a great deal of praise for the way they controlled this blaze. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Chief Richards, George Norris, Barney Davis and Joe Swanson attended the S. G. V. F. Association at Pasadena last Thursday evening. "Second the Motion," Norris was very brave when he made a motion to eliminate the calling of men by their official names and to designate each fellow as "Comrade," instead. This was one motion that George lost and his eyes popped when he saw that everyone of his Sierra Madre "Comrades" had voted him down. Such is life.

Make a date now with a beauty shop for the coming firemen's dance and card party. All the town'll be there with lard in their hair and sand in their shoes. Plenty of swing and pep.

MYSTERY THRILLER AT ARCADIA THEATRE

Thrills and chills abound in the "Mysterious Mr. Moto," with Peter Lorre in the title role, billed with "Sons of the Legion" at Arcadia theatre for Wednesday night this week. From Thanksgiving through Saturday, the theatre will present "Valley of the Giants," glorified Western starring Wayne Morris and Claire Trevor. Second feature of the bill will be "Hold That Co-ed," in which John Barrymore and Marjorie Weaver take the leads.

At The Grammar School

Seventh graders were sorry that they could not present their Colonial play Wednesday but they will notify the public when it will be staged. Mrs. Saunders, play director, was transferred from Sierra Madre school, and Madam Marion de Beaulieu will direct the play.

Friendly Indians held a "weenie" bake Wednesday. They have recently been working on Indian shields and blankets.

Camp Fire Girls have been working very hard for honors. They have been doing a good many things around the school and earning honors for them. Pupils will have a holiday from school Friday, besides that on Thanksgiving, so they will have a four-day vacation before Monday morning brings them back to their classes.

FOUNTAIN DONATED TO CHILDREN'S HOME

Members of Epworth League of Monrovia and junior high school department of the Pasadena First Methodist Church visited the Plaza Community Center on Sunday and brought gifts for a food shower. Another pleasant surprise at the Center last week was the gift of a drinking fountain from Mrs. R. E. Wright. Mr. Wright took charge of the installation in the yard. Heretofore there have been no outside drinking facilities for the children and the thoughtfulness of Mr. and Mrs. Wright is sincerely appreciated.

A. L. A. Activities

LISTED with the sick are Anne Collins, Mary Lou Lovejoy (with an injured finger) and Ralph Koon. We trust they are feeling much better by now.

District hospital chairman is urging more members to attend the San Fernando card party at 7 o'clock November 29th. Our Unit will furnish sandwiches and funds for prizes. But most of all your attendance will serve to cheer the boys who spend their time within hospital walls.

Candy makers of the unit are asked to volunteer to help make ten pounds of candy for our Sawtelle Card Party on Dec. 5th. Call Mrs. Jensen at 51 and tell her how much you will make and where we may pick it up.

We are still working on membership. Let's get the dues in this week, and then we may concentrate on the work as outlined by department. Membership is absolutely necessary first. Hand in your dues tomorrow.

Sanche Buie has written to thank friends for their kindness in remembering her during her time of sorrow. She is president of the unit in Jackson, Ohio, and they have beautiful club rooms in the City Hall. The townspeople are all Legion-minded, according to Mrs. Buie.

Attending the district meeting Monday night from this city were Mrs. A. H. Embree, Mrs. J. A. Irvine, Mrs. Val Miller, Mrs. W. W. Iram A. Smith and Mrs. G. R. Lovejoy.

Russell Lovejoy Jr. was named a delegate to the H-Y convention in Glendale this week-end.

Woman's Club Notes

Members of the Woman's Club should make every effort to attend the splendid program which is being given under the direction of Mrs. Adria Johnson at the Club today, Nov. 23. Club members are presenting the program which will include book reviews, poetry reading and the reading of an unusually interesting group of travel letters.

The Literary section of the Club conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Caenev will meet Saturday, November 26th at 8 p. m. Members of the French section will attend the Eric von Stroheim production "Grand Illusion" at the Esquire Theatre in Los Angeles Friday afternoon, and Mrs. Myers announces that anyone who wishes to join the group may do so, but requests that reservations be made with her as soon as possible. The feature is in French but is accompanied by English captions.

Plans are under way at the club for a bridge luncheon which will be given December 7th. Other games will be provided for guests who do not play bridge.

Scouts To Explore Famed Calico Hills--Hunting A Truck

Boy Scouts of Sierra Madre Troop No. 1 are calling not "all cars," just a truck.

Search for the required vehicle started when the troop, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Craig McLaughlin, decided to join the sixth annual Scouts' caravan to the desert next month.

Establishing their camp near the Devil's Honeycomb in the scenic Calico mountains north and east of Barstow, troops of the Pasadena-San Gabriel valley council will spend December 27, 28 and 29 there. The Scouts will explore some of the most rugged and beautiful canyons of the West, visit the famous Calico mines and ghost town, hike through the mountains, gather about their campfires in the evening to sing songs, hear stories of the desert and of the early day of the West. It will be a wonderful trip, interesting and educational.

Assuring parents that their sons will be well chaperoned by Scoutmasters, McLaughlin pointed out that the 300-mile trip will cost each boy only two dollars for transportation, each carrying his own food and bedding.

"But where do you suppose we can get a truck to take the boys up there?" McLaughlin asked.
Last weekend 18 boys of Troop No. 1 jaunted to Camp Huntington, council-maintained camp on the slopes of Mt. Lowe. The local unit distinguished itself by having the largest attendance present from any of the 30 troops represented.

McLaughlin and Junior Assistant Scoutmasters Larry Garland and Claude Allen accompanied the boys on the weekend outing. Tuesday night the troop met informally in the Lima street gulley, worked on Scout tests and enjoyed a weiner roast.

"Yes, things do stay cleaner here—
practically everybody uses
Natural Gas"You notice the cleanness of Southern California's atmosphere most when you compare it with busy communities where natural gas is not available. That is why visitors here so often comment on the delightful freedom from soot.They see what a difference it makes to have natural gas, a fuel cheap enough for everybody to use and yet so clean that it leaves no residue whatever.But even more important is the fact that gas brings extra conveniences. It is the fast, effortless way to cook and it provides automatic refrigeration that is permanently silent.For helpful information about any gas appliance, see a dealer or your gas company. Ask about the easy terms.
